ABSTRACT

This bibliography provides a list of print and nonprint materials available at Ashland Community College (ACC) that deal with drug abuse education and prevention, along with information on other resources. Information on title, vendor, purchase price, and author is available for 10 books; 18 booklets; 2 audiocassette programs; 13 miscellaneous items (e.g., fact sheets and computer software); 61 pamphlets; 15 reports; and 36 videos. In addition, the names and toll-free numbers of 14 national hotlines and 7 local organizations providing services to families or victims of drug abuse are included. Finally, the addresses of the vendors from which items listed in the bibliography are available, and a list of books on drug abuse and prevention available at the ACC library are presented. Introductory material traces ACC's involvement in drug abuse education and prevention, indicating that the college was twice awarded funding to provide information and training related to drug abuse education and prevention. Through presentations conducted throughout the school year, college students, faculty, and staff had the opportunity to learn from Ashland area experts about health, legal, economic, employment, social and family relationship aspects of drug abuse. In addition, project staff established an up-to-date library of drug abuse education and prevention materials. The second grant funded the Drug Information Units Project, which features the use of Peer Educators, college students who are trained and committed to providing a variety of services to students, faculty, staff, and the entire ACC service area. Preface

Ashland Community College has been most fortunate to have twice been awarded funding in competetive competition for the purpose of providing information and training relating to a Drug Abuse Education and Prevention Program. The initial one year funding in 1988 was followed by a two year award in 1990 through the Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education (FIPSE) and the U.S. Department of Education's Drug Prevention Programs in Higher Education..

Ashland Community College utilized its initial one year grant award to emphasize the need for greater awareness, knowledge, and understanding of the use, abuse, and prevention of the misuse of drugs. Through a series of presentations conducted the second and fourth Wednesday's of each month throughout the school year, college students, faculty and staff had the opportunity to learn from Ashland area experts about various aspects of the drug problem. These presentations by individuals and/or a panel of experienced practioners dealt with health aspects of drug abuse, legal aspects of drug abuse, economic and employment aspects of drug abuse, and social and family relationship aspects of drug abuse. The sessions were excellently presented and were well received.

In addition to the series of presentations relating to the various aspects of drug use and abuse, the project staff sought to establish an up-to-date library of drug abuse education and prevention materials. This publication is the result of that effort and has been continued to be upgraded. Through the purchase of the variety of materials identifed in this document, we hope to provide ready access to any group and/or individual pertinent information about a wide variety of drugs.

The second grant from FIPSE (1990-92) established the DIU Project (Drug Information Units project). The key DIU Project feature has been the use of Peer Educators. Peer Educators are college students trained and committed to providing a variety of services to not only their fellow students and the college faculty and staff, but the entire Ashland Community College service area.

The Peer Educators each specialized in becoming our "in resident experts" on knowledge about specific drugs. They have been available in the ACC library at designated times to help individuals and groups find information about the various drugs. They have interacted one-on-one with fellow students coping with drug use and/or abuse. They have made presentations and speeches to local area schools, civic clubs and church groups. They have shared about the availability of this DID (Drug Information Document) which informs you, the reader, about what information (printed and video format) is accessible at ACC's library, second floor of the new Learning Resource Center.

SPECIAL NOTE TO THE READER:

Ashland Community College wants to share this storehouse of knowledge and information with you. You are invited to check out those items of interest to you and yours through our regular ACC library system. The ACC Library is open each weekday from 8 am. to 9 p.m. and on Saturdays from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. You are encouraged to secure this material to be used whenever and wherever you deem there would be anyone who may benefit from it. You may call the ACC Library (606) 329-2999 ext. 543 or 573 to determine if your item of interest is immediately available or if you need to reserve it for use.

FORWARD

As indicated in our Preface, this document is designed to provide anyone interested in learning more about drugs, drug use and drug abuse an opportunity to secure access to essential knowledge and information. We have indicated that all the items listed herein (books, booklets, cassettes, pamphlets, reports, software and videos) are available at ACC's Library. However, because we feel you may want to secure some of the items for your personal and/or organizational use, we have provided additional information including cost at the time we purchased the item, from whom it was obtained, an indication of whom may have authored or narrated the item, as well as other specific data.

Editor's Caution:

We recommend that all materials described herein (especially video tapes) be previewed prior to use with your target group. You will find that some of the language is just what you might expect in a drug use setting; therefore, please preview each tape to assure it does not offend you or your audience or to make certain that you prepare your viewers regarding this matter.

The abusive use of drugs is not a pretty picture.
